ABSTRACT

Minimum workpiece data involving a product shape is selected from a workpiece database, by comparing dimension data of workpiece data registered in the workpiece database with dimension data of a product model, to create a workpiece model based on the selected workpiece data. Thus, minimum workpiece data involving a product shape is automatically selected from the workpiece database.